Got numeracy?

Last Friday was SEED day.

SEED is a charity, that work to raise money to send children in Tanzania to school.

It costs the UK government roughly £20 to send a pupil to school, per day.

How much would it cost the government to send a pupil to school for a full six week term?

It costs SEED £220 to send a young person to school for a year.

Assuming the same money is needed each week of the year, how much would it cost to send a class of 25 young people to school for a six week term like ours?
(Nearest pound please.)
